- Wrote grants and manuscripts and analyzed statewide data related to program evaluation and policy development.
- Information and Research Specialist (1986-88)
- Designed, developed, implemented, and supervised data collection and analysis of statewide longitudinal assessment of family caregiver clients.
- 1984-1986 University of Southern California
Andrus Gerontology Center, University Park, CA
- Research Assistant (1984-86)
Alzheimer's Disease Research Center
- Conducted neuropsychological assessments of demented adults, wrote clinical reports, and performed data analyses.
- Counseling Therapist / Clinical Administrative Asst. (1985-86)
Andrus Older Adult Center
- Facilitated support groups and individual and family counseling for families and older adults with a variety of psychological disorders.

RESEARCH SUPPORT on-going

1 R01 NR014442-01 Coon (PI) Whitlatch (Co-Investigator) 9/01/15 - 08/31/19
National Institute on Nursing Research

EPIC: Early-stage AD intervention for sociodemographically diverse care partners

- Early-stage partners in care (EPIC) is an adapted group version of the SHARE dyadic intervention. This project evaluates the effectiveness of the EPIC group program for Latino families in Arizona.

R01AG048931 Gaugler (PI) Whitlatch (Co-Invest.) 06/01/16 5/31/21

National Institute on Aging

The Residential Care Transition Module

- Further develop and evaluate the Residential Care Transition Module for family caregivers supporting a relative with dementia. The feasibility, acceptability and effectiveness of the RCTM will be evaluated in a randomized controlled trial.

RESEARCH SUPPORT completed

2016-003 Whitlatch (PI) 2016-2018
Retirement Research Foundation $183,833

Support, Health, Activities, Resources, and Education for persons with chronic conditions and their family caregivers: SHARE – Chronic Conditions (SHARE-CC)

- This study adapts the SHARE intervention (originally designed for families facing the challenges of early-stage dementia) for use with persons with chronic conditions and their family caregivers (n=120 dyads). A randomized controlled trial will be conducted to test the feasibility, acceptability, and preliminary efficacy of the SHARE-CC intervention and program implementation.

R44AG044242 Femia & Whitlatch (Multiple PIs) 10/01/12 – 12/31/15
National Institute on Aging $1,374,868 total costs

Supporting Health, Activities, Resources, and Education: The SHARE Program for Early-Stage Families

- In collaboration with FIT Interactive, LLC, this Small Business Innovation Research project develops training and implementation materials for the SHARE intervention, an innovative and unique program for persons with early-stage dementia and family caregivers. Materials include video training modules, iPad adaptations of the care values and preferences for care tasks exercises, and supervision protocols which focus on care planning and decision making for family care dyads.

90AI0040 Whitlatch (PI) 10/01/10 – 11/30/14
DHHS / AoA / ODA $493,808 subcontract with ODA

Early diagnosis dyadic intervention II (EDDI-II) (also referred to as SHARE)

- In collaboration with the Ohio Department on Aging and The Pennsylvania State University, this randomized control trial evaluated the counseling protocols developed and tested previously for the EDDI and ECHO dyadic interventions. Protocols focused on care planning and decision making for family care dyads (i.e., persons with early-stage dementia and their family caregivers).

DE111117-001 Whitlatch (PI on ASU Sub-contract – D. Coon [PI])
DHHS / AoA $54,195 (includes in-kind) 03/30/10-9/31/12

Early-stage Partners in Care: The EPIC Project

- This project was a collaboration with Arizona State University (Dr. Coon) and Arizona Department of Economic Security, Division of Aging and Adult Services (David Besst). The project adapted the Early Diagnosis Dyadic Intervention (EDDI) for use with groups of care dyads facing the challenges of early-stage dementia throughout Arizona. The project tested the effects of the EPIC intervention with an RCT of 80 care dyads.

RESEARCH SUPPORT completed (cont'd)

90AI0004-01 Whitlatch (PI on subcontract with ODA) 09/01/2008-09/31/2011
Administration on Aging, Department of Health and Human Services

Empowering elders by enhancing cognitive health outcomes: The ECHO Project

- This project evaluated the feasibility and efficacy of the ECHO program with 80 persons with early-stage dementia and their family caregivers. Intervention techniques focused on enhancing cognitive reserve in order to decrease late-life depression and improve well-being for participants.

1 R34 MH073559-01A1 Zarit (PI) Whitlatch (Co-PI) 04/20/06-03/31/09
National Institute of Mental Health $595,000 total costs

Adaptive Treatment for At-Risk Family Caregivers

- In collaboration with The Pennsylvania State University, this intervention development grant designed, implemented, and evaluated a comprehensive assessment instrument and associated multi-session intervention tailored to the specific needs of family caregivers of persons with dementia.

5 R01 MH070629 Whitlatch (PI) 04/01/04 – 01/31/08
NIH / NIMH $967,483 total costs (NCE 07/31/09)

Conceptualizing Mental Health Interventions

- This longitudinal study merged the samples from the previous dyad studies (see below; RWJF n=51; AARP n=60, NIA/UMAC n=106, AoA n= 50) and included up to two additional waves of data collection and analysis in order to determine the most effective pathways for intervening with caregivers and persons with early to later-stage memory loss and chronic conditions.

2005-088 Whitlatch (PI) 07/01/05 – 08/31/08
Retirement Research Foundation $245,119 total costs

Enhancing the Role of Older Adults in Research and Care Planning

- This study examined the opinions and experiences of over 300 cognitively impaired and cognitively intact adults and their ability to participate in research and care planning activities. Findings have been used to develop guidelines that foster optimal care choices and involvement in everyday care decisions for family caregivers and persons with cognitive impairments and the practitioners who work with them.

90CG2566 Zarit (PI) Whitlatch (Co-PI) 09/29/02 – 09/28/04
DHHS / AoA $289,698 subcontract with PSU (no cost extension 04/01/05)

Early diagnosis in dementia: Dyadic counseling for family caregivers and patients

- In collaboration with The Pennsylvania State University, this study developed and evaluated the effectiveness of a counseling program focused on care planning and decision making for family care dyads (i.e., persons with early stage dementia and their family caregivers).

5 P50 AG-08012 Herrup (PI) Whitlatch (PI on project grant) 06/0100 - 05/31/05
NIH / NIA $511,902 total costs (no cost extension 05/31/06)

Decision making and service use in caregiving families

- Five-year longitudinal study in collaboration with Case Western Reserve University Memory and Aging Center (Alzheimer's Disease Research Center) to study the long-term effects and service use patterns of caregivers and persons with early stage dementia

2000-059 Whitlatch (PI) 07/01/00 – 12/31/03
Retirement Research Foundation $332,023 total costs

Decision making and service use in caregiving families over time

- This longitudinal study examined autonomy and decision making in African American and non African American family caregiver – care receiver dyads.

(No number) Whitlatch (PI) 03/01/98 – 02/28/00
AARP Andrus Foundation $99,907 total costs (no cost extension 08/31/00)

Autonomy and Functioning in African American Caregiving Families

- This grant, which was in response to the Living with Chronic Conditions Initiative, examined health decision making in African American families dealing with early stage dementia and chronic conditions.

(No number) Whitlatch (PI) 01/01/98 – 08/31/00
Foundation grants $200,500 total costs

COPE: Caregiver Options Program and Evaluation

- This study was funded through nine Cleveland area foundation grants to evaluate the effectiveness of a family caregiver respite intervention.

032243 Feinberg (PI) Whitlatch (Co-PI) 07/01/97 – 01/31/00
Robert Wood Johnson Fndn. $50,000 total subcontract (no cost extension 05/31/00)

Making Hard Choices -- Respecting Both Voices

- In response to the RWJF Independent Choices Initiative and in collaboration with Family Caregiver Alliance in San Francisco, this grant examined health care choice and decision making in caregiving families.
